Still on my wishlist, but it is promising. The smaller kindles don't let me see enough of PDFs for technical sections.

Hope you're having a wonderful day. I'm working on a new set of features. I'll be adding some tools to a premium-only section of the site. This will be supported with subscriptions. Currently I have built the following and there will be more to come.

- CSV to JSON: Convert a CSV file to a JSON array
- JSON to CSV: Convert a JSON array to a CSV
- Slugify Text: Convert your text into a URL-safe format
- Deslugify Text: Convert your URL-safe format into normal text

My infrastructure to support payments isn't available yet. If you'd like to pay for this early, let me know and I can accept venmo or paypal.

Tool Update - Morse Code

Ben Maddox Monday, December 11, 2023

Affiliate Link

Splendor Board Game

This is one of my personal favorite games. Build up your gem mines to get discounts and points. A nice balance of objectives with a race for points.

There's a new tool in 2 parts. Text to Morse Code and Morse Code to Text. Using the American morse code, you can convert between text and morse code. This supports A through Z and 0 through 9. That's 26 letters and 10 numerals. Other characters aren't supported by the standard. See Wikipedia for more information.

Have a great day!

The screenshot shows a blog post with a dark header containing a small image and the text "Buy Me A Coffee". The main content area has a white background. It starts with a paragraph explaining the tool's purpose and showing two examples of line sorting. The first example shows the numbers 1, 2, 3, 100, 101 in their original order, followed by the text "and it would sort it to this." Below this is another example where the numbers 1, 100, 101, 2, 3 are sorted as 1, 2, 3, 100, 101. The author then states, "But that isn't what I usually want. If there are numbers, I want them to be sorted like this." This is followed by a third example where the numbers 1, 2, 3, 100, 101 are sorted as 1, 100, 101, 2, 3. The post concludes with a note about sorting mixed letters and numbers and ends with a "Have a great day!" sign-off from Ben Maddox.

Below the header, a blue link "← Back to Blog" is visible. The main title "Tool Update - Distinct Lines" is centered in a large white font. Below the title, the author "Ben Maddox" and the date "Friday, December 1, 2023" are listed. A prominent feature is a white rectangular box containing an "Affiliate Link" for "Airpods Pro 2nd Generation on Amazon", which includes an image of the earbuds.

The main content area contains text about a new tool called "DistinctLines" that removes duplicates from input. It shows two screenshots of a text input field. In the first screenshot, the input contains "a", "a", "b", "b", and "c". In the second screenshot, the input has been filtered down to just "a", "b", and "c". The screenshot shows a dark-themed blog post page. At the top, there's a navigation bar with a logo, "Root Beer Text", and links for "Home" and "Blog". Below the header, a blue link "← Back to Blog" is visible. The main title "Tool Update - Change Case" is centered above the content. A timestamp "Ben Maddox Saturday, December 2, 2023" is present. In the center of the page is a large white rectangular area containing a small image of a coffee cup and the text "Buy Me A Coffee". Below this, a message box contains the text: "There's a new tool. Change Case. There are many options here. You can uppercase or lowercase the whole thing. Or you can change between different programming casings. It will even let you go from camelCase to snake case while preserving words." At the bottom of the page, a footer box says "Have a great day!" and "Ben Maddox".

Airpods Pro 2nd Generation on Amazon

Apple's popular airpods pro. I haven't met a person with these that doesn't recommend them.

Excited to share our latest tool, the CSV File Merge.

This tool allows you to merge multiple CSV files by aligning them based on column names. Simply input your CSV files and let the tool handle the rest. It's perfect for combining data sets efficiently.

Here are some examples. If you start with these two CSVs, the merge will account for the column names and merge all the rows appropriately.

CSV 1

name	age	city
John	30	New York
Jane	31	New York

name	age	state
Joe	32	Ohio
Jane	33	California

There's a new tool. Sort lines. It shows a sorted list of lines from what you enter. You could start with a b

and it would sort it to this:

Have a great day!

The screenshot shows a dark-themed web application. At the top, there's a navigation bar with a logo of a root beer bottle, the text "Root Beer Text", and links for "Home" and "Blog". Below the header, the main title "Morse Code To Text" is displayed in a large, bold, white font. A descriptive text below the title explains the input format: "Please type or paste into the text area below. This should be formatted as morse code. Use a period '.' as the dot and the hyphen '-' as the dash. The output will be text below. This uses the American (Morse) style. See Wikipedia for more information." The central feature is a text input area with a blue border, labeled "Type Morse Code Here". To the right of this input area is a "Copy to Clipboard" button. Above the input area, there's a section titled "Affiliate Link" featuring an image of the board game "Splendor" and a brief description: "This is one of my personal favorite games. Build up your gem mines to get discounts and points. A nice balance of objectives with a race for points." Below the affiliate link section is another empty text input area labeled "AB".

name,dob,active
John,2000-01-01,true
Jane,2001-01-12,False
Bob,2002-01-19,true

Below this, a note says you can customize the template and show options for each column, followed by a snippet of SQL:

insert into users (name, dob, active) values ('${name}', '${dob}', ${active == 'true' ? 1 : 0});

It's noted as the standard template. Then, it shows how ternary results are handled:

insert into users (name, dob, active)
values ('John', '2000-01-01', 1);

insert into users (name, dob, active)
values ('Jane', '2001-01-12', 0);

insert into users (name, dob, active)
values ('Bob', '2002-01-19', 1);

Finally, it shows the resulting CSV output:

name,dob,active
John,2000-01-01,true
Jane,2001-01-12,False
